Inspiring.

I met Kee Kee Buckley years ago through my friend Julie when we were both still living in L.A. A few years after I left and moved to NY, I heard that she had been laid off and made the decision to get in her car with her dog Yoda and hit the road. I followed her blog posts about her road trip with great interest, constantly amazed and inspired by her courage to just go where the moment took her versus put another pair of velvet handcuffs on in the form of another big job. She was on the Ricki Lake show the other day - the clip of which can be found in this link. Every time I think of her I smile.
